Explanatory notes on postal voting as well as on the granting of power of attorney and issuing of instructions

In order to cast your vote(s) by postal voting, you must vote on all voting items on the agenda proposed for resolution; the entry mask that follows requires input in the relevant fields. It is not possible technically to not enter a vote on individual agenda items.

By virtue of a power of attorney granted by you, each of the company-nominated proxies is authorized to exercise your voting rights individually. The power of attorney explicitly includes the right to grant sub-powers of attorney. This is the only way to ensure that, even if one of the company-nominated proxies is not available, your voting rights are exercised as instructed.

Besides granting power of attorney, you must issue specific instructions to the company-nominated proxies on all voting items on the agenda proposed for resolution; the entry mask that you will find under the shareholders' portal requires input in the relevant fields. The company-nominated proxies may act under the power of attorney granted to them only to the extent that they have received specific instructions relating to the voting items on the agenda proposed for resolution. It is not technically possible to merely grant a power of attorney without issuing specific instructions on the individual agenda items. You are therefore requested to issue the instructions required in the corresponding entry mask.

Motions and election proposals pursuant to § 127 („AktG“) that are announced by shareholders and have to be made available pursuant to § 126 AktG will not be made available on the shareholders' portal but on the website of HELLA GmbH & Co. KGaA.

Further notes

If postal votes, authorizations or powers of attorney/instructions are received by the company-nominated proxies for one and the same shareholding that differ in terms of substance, priority will always be given to the declaration most recently issued in compliance with all form requirements and time limits; earlier declarations will be deemed finally revoked. If it is not clear beyond reasonable doubt which declaration was submitted most recently, the declarations will be treated in the following order of priority: (1) declarations submitted via the shareholders' portal, (2) declarations submitted by e-mail, (3) declarations submitted by telefax, (4) declarations submitted by mail. If differing declarations are received via one and the same channel of submission and if it is not clear beyond reasonable doubt which declaration was submitted most recently, the postal votes most recently cast via that channel will always be given priority over instructions issued to the company-nominated proxies, provided that declarations of the shareholder are given priority over those of an authorized representative, and declarations of the latter will be given priority over those issued by a third party holding a sub-power of attorney.

Please do not make your access details available to unauthorized persons to prevent any unauthorized third party access.

Please make sure that you exit the shareholders' portal properly. Proper exiting the shareholders' portal prevents unauthorized persons from viewing or manipulating in your absence the entries you have made.
