No Ariba account

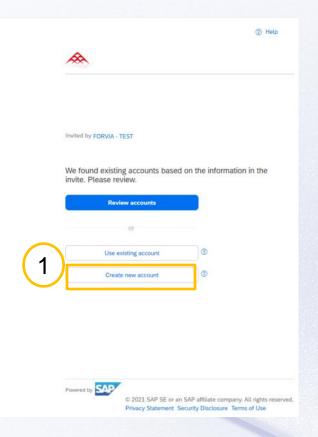

• Create an Ariba account using the link in the received via the email invitation

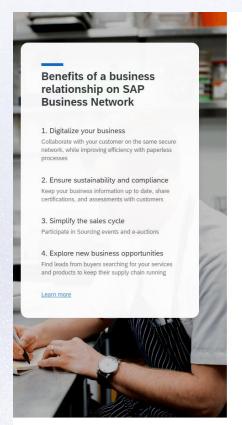

For any issues you encounter when trying to log into Ariba, please send an email to supplier.onboarding.hella@forvia.com

Once you received the invitation link, click on Create New Account and fill out the mandatory information marked with an asterisk in the new page that opens.

! Even if you already have an existing account created with Hella, you will need to create a new one due to the recent update in the SAP Ariba tool.

When scrolling down on the same page Under Administration account information field you must add the mandatory information and take the below actions:

- 1. Please untick the box from Use my email as my username,
- At Username you can enter your email address + text or number.

Example of username: Hella123@forvia.com; forviahella1.user@forvia.com; 123user.example@forvia.com

*The username must have an email format, but it does not have to be a real e-mail address, it is just used as Username.

Click on Continue Account Creation and you will receive an email to confirm your address.

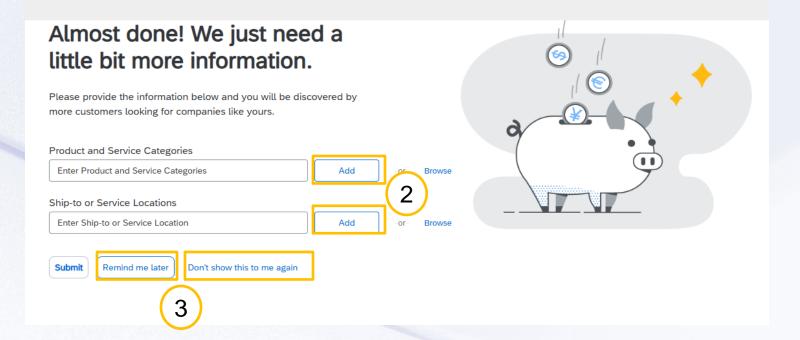

In case you do not receive the email, you have the option to resend it (step 2).
