

HELLA BHAP

Automotive Lighting

Beijing Hella BHAP Automotive Lighting, the joint venture of HELLA and leading Chinese automobile manufacturer BAIC, develops, manufactures and sells competitive headlamps and rear combination lamps, especially considering the Chinese market, since 2014.

Electronics

HELLA BHAP Electronics is the second joint venture of HELLA and BHAP and was established in 2018. It is planned to commence series production at the beginning of 2020 with the first product groups being various electronic control units for customers of the BAIC Group.

BHTC
COMFORT IN MOTION

JOINT VENTURES

BHTC

This joint venture between HELLA and Mahle is one of the world's leading companies in the area of climate control and thermal management for the automotive industry since 1999. Its product portfolio covers e.g., operator- and control units for vehicle air conditioning, climate control sensors and fan controls.

Revenue in 2018: 485 mn €

JOINT VENTURES

HELLA FAWAY Automotive Lighting

Headquartered in Changchun, the joint venture is responsible for developing, manufacturing and selling lighting systems as well as integrating electronics parts and control units in headlamps since 2012. Changchun FAWAY Automobile Components, a subsidiary of FAW, is a partner of the joint venture and specializes in automotive spare parts and accessories in China. The joint venture focuses on manufacturing lighting systems for the Chinese market.

HELLA Behr Plastic Omnium

Specializing in the design, development, installation and logistics of complete front-end modules since 1999. The company is the first of its kinds in Germany.

Revenue in 2017: 2.0 bn €

JOINT VENTURES

InnoSenT

As one of the global market leaders for radar sensors, InnoSenT GmbH develops and manufactures pioneering radar technology for safety-enhancing driver assistance systems in cars, such as the Lane Change or Lane Tracking Assistant since 2006. InnoSenT GmbH is also involved in producing systems designed for traffic monitoring and building surveillance.

Intedis

This joint venture formed by HELLA and Leoni specializes in designing electrical and electronic system architectures for vehicles, and advises carmakers around the globe in this area since 2001. The company's intelligent systems ensure optimum control and monitoring of the distribution of energy, data and signals in the vehicle.

JOINT VENTURES

Mando HELLA Electronics

This joint venture between HELLA and Mando pools both companies' expertise in the area of chassis systems and electronics as well as driver assistance systems since 2008. The company develops active systems for improved driving safety and comfort, with a particular focus on the needs of Korean carmakers.

HELLA Pagid

With its extensive range of brake products and its excellent technology, the joint venture of Hella Pagid can meet even the highest demands. In its role as one of the leading brands in the independent aftermarket, Hella Pagid Brake Systems provides its customers with an ever-adapting range of products since 2013. This includes a huge selection of wear parts and hydraulic parts as well as fluids and accessories.

JOINT VENTURES

Samlip Automotive Lighting

Beijing Samlip Automotive Lighting is specialized in the production and sales of headlamps, rear combination lamps and signal lights since 2002. The joint venture is regarded as the exclusive supplier for Korean customers in China and in so doing combines HELLA's know-how in lighting systems with established business relationships with Korean customers from Samlip.